

FORM 102

At this stage of the ITP, a tactical sexual relationship is an ideological condition to weaken the law of value, to weaken concretely the constitution of a property relationship of private property. The constitutional base of a property relationship is the depository of exchange-value, that is based on the process of value, that is, materialize or realize .

The O has fully arrived at the problem of cadre not being able to resolve fundamental ideological differences that are connected to the value of sex, which has a quality of possessiveness. This possessive character of value makes it impossible for members in the PR to negate depositories of exchange-value without the transitive effect of creating new depositories of exchange-value instead of negating them.

The tactical aim of a sexual relationship is to bring the dialectical method in the form: A) systematizing sex as objective function of biology and psychology , and B) in the form of ideological confrontation to sexual problems that are based in exchange-value without creating new depositories of exchange-value, or adding to the magnitude of sexual value.

With regard to the male idealist, the problem in sexual activity is premature ejaculation. (Note: not all male idealists have this problem) With regard to females idealist, the problem in sexual activity is difficulty in reaching orgasm thru sexual intercourse. (note: not all female idealists have this problem) The problem common to both male and female idealists is their ongoing practice in metaphysics of capitalist ideology i.e. exchange-value deriving from their SC.

For clarity sake, metaphysics as referred to here isn't restricted solely to the metaphysician; it refers to the universal nature of metaphysics that is inherent in both idealist and metaphysician. The inherent problem in metaphysics in regard to sexual practice is not connecting conceptually to the internal biological organs and their functions. In a word, the basis of metaphysical sexual practice lies in not conceptualizing the contradiction in each form of motion in matter. The manifestation of this conceptual difficulty is the overuse of progression motion in personalized implemenation in order to realize an orgasm. The continue overuse of this form of motion to realize, as opposed to the process of interconnection to materialize, an orgasm can lead to perversion.

With regard to the male and female metaphysicians, their sexual behavior is usually one of manipulative passivity in the use of personal solution. Linked to this, dominantly, the principal aspect in the metaphysicians' sexual activity is maintaining procedural control while in the process of interconnection. A common enjoyment of the metaphysical character is masturbation.

Two ways to view sex: 1) as value, sex is regarded as one's ultimate value-form of self-worth in bring happiness to the relationship or to one's self through the realization or materialization of a baby. With regard to the family, the female is regarded as the value-form internal to the family. On the other hand, the male is regarded as the value-form external to the family; this is due to men's dominant role in society--their supreme rights that are afforded them by private property. So, men as a value-form has relative exchange value with private property of all of its equivalents. Women, on the other hand, as a value-form has relative exchange value in the maintenance and preservation of private property. For the most part this means the female sex produce healthy babies and properly rear them to fit roles as prescribed by the relations of production. 2) As an equivalent-form, sex has exchange-value. The use of sex in this regard is to maintain or expand one's commodity exchange-value for the purpose of preserving and obtaining high valuation of confirmation or verification. In this connection, having babies for financial and non-financial reasons depending on their asset from the view point of tax advantages and financial investment, children are viewed as an interdependent development of the relative-form of sex; in turn, children become a particular equivalent of the expanded form of relative-value of sex. Commercialized sex is another equivalent-form of the relative-value form of sex.

FORM 102

NAME: _____

MALE []

DATE: _____

MOT: _____

FEMALE []

1) What is your value-form in the PR?

2) What is your partner's value-form in the PR?

3) List depositories of exchange-value that you have in the PR.

4) List ways that you have used sex as an exchange-value to expand your commodity value or to obtain high valuation of confirmation or verification.

[] process of interdependence [] process of interconnection

(SC) POV: _____

[] verification [] confirmation

5) Who have you been mostly attracted to in regard to establishing a PR?

[] idealist OR [] metaphysician

In terms of your exchange-value of sex, who have you been out-and-out attracted to sexually? [] idealist OR [] metaphysician

Explain your answer: _____

6) How well-developed is your P. FOM? Explain: _____

7) Name areas where there is the most intense struggle or conflict. _____

8) How well-developed is your partner's P. FOM? Explain: _____

The more developed is one's P.FOM and one's partner's P.FOM, the less depository of exchange-value is put in the PR and the weaker is the constitutional bond of private property. On the other hand, the less developed is one's P.FOM and one's partner's P.FOM, the greater is the quantity of depository of exchange-value put in the PR and the stronger is the constitutional bond of private property.

9) Based on the above data, pose the principal contradiction as regards your exchange-value of sex in your PR. _____

10) Analyze the principal contradiction of the two aspects of the contradiction in each process as regards sex as an objective function and sex as an exchange=value.

SUMMARY: The focus of a summary must be placed on methods to adopt or adopted, in dealing with the urge to have sexual practice when the urge is based in your SC.

Does your analysis indicate the need for a tactical relationship? [] yes [] no

Explain: _____

What is your tactics in the context of method of correction of the principal contradiction?

Once forms have been centralized as indicating a tactical sexual relationship, and if the recommendation or request is approved, then, those requesting a TSR will be pulled together on the basis of two to discuss the implementation of the tactical aim.

[This form can be used to examine all past relationships individually; in so doing, it will add clarity to your past sexual practice.]

